

Sofia Kalashnikova

PhD Candidate, School of Politics and International Relations, Australian National University

sofia.kalashnikova@anu.edu.au | Google Scholar | LinkedIn

EDUCATION

PhD Candidate in Political Science 2023-2027

Australian National University, School of Politics and International Relations

Research focus: political representation, national identity, citizenship, political elites and public attitudes in Australia and the United Kingdom.

Master of Political Science, with Distinction 2019-2021

St Petersburg State University, Faculty of Political Science

GPA: 98/100.

Ostpartnerschaften Fellow 2020-2021

University of Hamburg / DAAD Scholarship Program

Competitive Funded Study Programme 2022

Keimyung University, awarded through the St Petersburg State University partnership programme

RESEARCH INTERESTS

National identity; political representation; citizenship; migration and multiculturalism; qualitative and mixed-methods.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant, How Politicians Evaluate Public Opinion (POLEVPOP) 2025-2026

Australian National University

Coordinated recruitment and correspondence with elected representatives and staff; conducted interviews with Australian politicians; maintained databases of federal and state parliamentarians; prepared qualitative material for analysis.

Research Assistant, Leadership Emerging from Migration, Ethnicity, Race and Gender in Australia and the European Union 2026

Australian National University

Coordinated communication with political, civil society and community leaders in Australia and the European Union; conducted interviews; maintained contact databases and recruitment tracking; supported project administration.

Research Assistant, The Internationalisation of Nationalist Populism 2026

Griffith University

Built and maintained a project database for research on nationalist populism and political parties; supported data collection and organisation for comparative research on populist politics.

Research Assistant, Australian Parliamentary Speech: How Deliberative? How Representative? 2025

Australian National University

Coded a research database for machine learning analysis; assisted with data preparation, classification and quality checking; supported the development of structured datasets on parliamentary speech, deliberation and representation.

Research Assistant, Members to Leaders: Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Participation in Political Parties 2025

Griffith University / University of Melbourne

Built and maintained a database for a project on Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander participation in political parties and Indigenous political representation in Australia.

Researcher, Identity Politics in Russian Agglomerations in the International Context Russian Science Foundation grant project Conducted qualitative content analysis of government programme texts, critical discourse analysis of regional leaders' speeches, and case studies of Russian and international agglomerations.	2023
Junior Researcher, State Identity Politics in the Context of New Geopolitical Challenges Institute of Scientific Information on Social Sciences, Russian Academy of Sciences Developed research tools, applied topic modelling, transcribed expert interviews, and conducted comparative analysis of political authority discourse.	2023
Research Assistant, Silk Road and Central Asia Research Centre Keimyung University Conducted archival research and supported the development of partnerships with museums, libraries and research institutions.	2022
Junior Researcher, Political Trust of Russian Youth: Mechanisms of Formation, State, Trends Institute of Scientific Information on Social Sciences, Russian Academy of Sciences Conducted statistical analysis of youth migration flows, supported an online survey of young people, and analysed state programmes on youth policy.	2022
Grant Recipient / Researcher, The Effectiveness of Regional Identity Politics in the Constituent Entities of the Russian Federation Russian Foundation for Basic Research Conducted discourse analysis, expert interviews, an online survey of regional residents, and data analysis using SPSS Statistics, QDA Miner and Atlas.ti.	2020-2021

POLICY EXPERIENCE

Policy and Research Intern Academy of the Social Sciences in Australia Contributed to the State of the Social Sciences 2026 project through evidence synthesis, statistical analysis and policy-facing research communication. Translated academic research into clear language for stakeholders, policymakers and broader non-specialist audiences. Worked with statistical data, survey findings and sector-level evidence; developed case studies demonstrating the value and impact of social science research; assisted with consultation materials, roundtable documentation, transcript de-identification and qualitative analysis.	2026
Project Manager The Agency for the Development of Human Capital in the Northwest Federal District Organised meetings between industrial enterprises, business associations and government representatives; developed partner communications and PR strategy.	2021-2022
Deputy Chief, Communications and Public Affairs St Petersburg State City Employment Centre Worked on communications strategy, media relations and public-facing materials; oversaw press operations in the absence of the department head.	2018-2020

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Tutor and Marker, School of Politics and International Relations Australian National University Courses: POLS2094 International Political Economy; POLS3001 Foreign Policy Analysis; POLS2017 International Relations Theory; POLS4038 Comparative Political Institutions. Delivered undergraduate tutorials, held student consultation hours, facilitated seminar discussions, marked essays, exams, presentations and tutorial participation, and provided written feedback on political science argumentation and academic writing.	2025-2026
---	-----------

Teaching Practice, Faculty of Political Science

2023

St Petersburg State University

Conducted workshops and marked papers across political science courses.

Webinar Instructor

2022

Intensive School of the Student Press Centre

Delivered webinars on social media, evaluated group projects and reviewed assignments.

Seminar Instructor

2022

Cross-Cultural Awareness Program

Conducted seminars and workshops on culture and language, prepared presentations and texts, and moderated discussions.

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

Full publication list available on Google Scholar.

- Kalashnikova, S., & Pogodina, M. (2024). Methodological Problems of Territorial Identity Studies: City, Agglomeration, Region. Political Science, 1, 233–258. <https://doi.org/10.31249/poln/2024.01.09>
- Kalashnikova, S., & Pogodina, M. (2024). Application of Topic Modelling Technology to the Analysis of Social Media Comments in the Context of State Identity Politics Research. Galactica Media: Journal of Media Studies, 6(3), 358–375. <https://doi.org/10.46539/gmd.v6i3.471>
- Kalashnikova, S., & Pogodina, M. (2024). Russian Agglomerations in the Context of Territorial Identity Politics: Critical Discourse Analysis of Regional Authorities' Speeches. Discourse-P, 21(1), 59–77. https://doi.org/10.17506/18179568_2024_21_1_59
- Kalashnikova, S., & Puzanova, A. (2023). The Potential of Applying Social Network Analysis to Evaluate Cross-Regional Online Interaction among Russian Youth. Galactica Media: Journal of Media Studies, 5(2), 118–134. <https://doi.org/10.46539/gmd.v5i2.363>
- Kalashnikova, S., & Andriiv, I. (2023). Heuristic Potential of Applying the Assessment Index to Regional Public Programs in the Field of Youth Policy. RUDN Journal of Political Science, 25(2), 486–499. <https://doi.org/10.22363/2313-1438-2023-25-2-486-499>

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS

- Australian Political Studies Association, Political Organisations and Participation Workshop, University of Melbourne, Melbourne, 2026.
- Australian Social Policy Higher Degree by Research Conference, Canberra, 2025.
- APSA National Conference, "The State of Democracy and Politics: Local, Regional and Global", Perth, 2024.
- The 5th Ideas in Politics Conference, "Rethinking Representation", Prague, 2024.
- Scientific and Practical Conference of St Petersburg State University, "Political Institutions in the Modern World: Collapse or Reset?", 2023.
- Annual Scientific Conference of the Russian Association of Political Science, "Political Science in a Changing World: New Practices and Theoretical Search", Moscow, 2023.
- International Scientific and Practical Conference of St Petersburg State University of Economics, "Modern Identity in the Context of Global Challenges", 2023.

GRANTS, SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

- Vice-Chancellor's Travel Grant, Australian National University, 2026.
- PhD Scholarship, Australian National University, 2023-2027.
- Competitive funded study programme, Keimyung University, awarded through the St Petersburg State University partnership programme, 2022.
- Ostpartnerschaften - DAAD Scholarship Program, University of Hamburg, 2020-2021.
- Grant recipient, Russian Foundation for Basic Research, "The Effectiveness of Regional Identity Politics in the Constituent Entities of the Russian Federation", 2020-2021.
- Master's degree with distinction, St Petersburg State University, 2021.

SKILLS

- Research methods: qualitative interviewing, elite interviewing, qualitative coding, content analysis, discourse analysis, survey analysis, case study research.
- Data and software: R, SPSS Statistics, MAXQDA, Atlas.ti, QDA Miner, database management, data cleaning and classification.
- Academic and policy writing: journal articles, conference papers, policy briefings, case studies, stakeholder-facing research communication.
- Project skills: interview coordination, stakeholder communication, research administration, event and roundtable support.

LANGUAGES

- Russian - Native.
- English - Advanced / C1.

REFERENCES

Available upon request.